Frozen wonderland

The icy atmosphere at Bridal Veil Falls in Provo Canyon isn't likely to disappear over the weekend, to the delight of ice climbers. Temperatures will peak in the mid 30s Saturday and dip to the mid 20s. Provo had a low temperature of 18 Friday, while Salt Lake dropped to 22 degrees.

Ice is nice

Climber Darren Pinne, Berkeley, Calif., hacks his way up ice hundreds of feet above the floor of Provo Canyon during an ice-climbing demonstration held Saturday at Bridal Veil Falls. The exhibition was part of the Outdoor Retailer Winter Market trade convention being conducted at the Salt Palace. The convention runs through Tuesday.
